ATLANTA, GEORGIA, THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 7, 1887.

FRIENDS ON THE JURY. A Discovery Made in the Trial of the Chicago

Boodlers.

Chicago, July 6.—A morning paper claims that the defense in the "Boodler" trial have attempted to pack the jury which is being impanelled, and that several friends of the indicted county officials have slipped in. When the court met this morning, the prosecuting attorney asked for an adjournment until two o'clock for the purpose of preparing for presentation to the court facts as to the qualification of five jurors sworn in yesterday. Adjournment was granted.

A formal charge was filed by the state's attorney that four men had been slipped into the jury box who should never have been admitted. George S. Tate, O: W. Ostrander, Wm. Parks and Daniel Cudehee, compose the quartette. Tate is a personal friend of one of the defendants, Warden Varnell, the two being a long time members of the same Masonic lodge. The objection to Ostrander and Parks is that they, with Tate, were summoned by Bailiff McGill, solely at the instance of persons interested in an acquittal. Cudehee is an alien, it is claimed, and the state's attorney asks that he, with another juror and Tate, Ostrander and Parks, the last batch of jurors sworn, be arraigned in order that some of them, at least, may be challenged. Judge Jamison postponed action until tomorrow.

CORYDON, Ind., July 6.—A terrible fight occurred at Marengo, Crawford county, Sunday night, between a band of "white caps" (regulators) and two brothere named Naushe. The "white caps" called upon John Naushe for the purpose of whipping. John and his brother Sherman were awaiting their arrival, and with wagonwheel spokes attacked the regulators. In the fight that ensued Sherman Naushe was probably fatally shot, and John was beaten with clubs until he was left for dead. The Naushes were powerful men, and it is said Naushes were powerful men, and it is said that several "white caps" were wounded and killed. The charge against John Naushe was that he had caused the separation of Justice Town and his wife. WHIPPED BY A MOB.

PITTSBURG, July 6.—A Uniontown, Pa., special says that the presence of Pinkerton's armed men in the coke region has caused intense excitement, and serious trouble may follow. coke region will be the advent of bitter feeling

"The men are quiet but determined, and the introduction of Pinkerton detectives into the coke region will be the advent of bitter feeling between employers and the employed that years will not eradicate. The strikers will be counselled to keep within the limits of law, but the landing of Pinkerton's agents has been the starting of rioting and of bloodshed wherever they have been used. There may be some disturbance in the Connellsville coke region, however, and some lives lost. The responsibility will rest upon those who brought the detectives here."

The detectives are in charge of Superintendent Linden, of Philadelphia, and Captain Foley, of Chicago. They are not here, they say, to cause trouble, but to prevent it, to protect those who desire to return to work. They will remain until the strike has been broken. Pittsburg, July 6.—This was the day set by some operators for a resumption of work by those of their employes who had expressed themselves as willing to go back at the old rate of wages. The works generally through the region, were open to all who desired to return. A number of them, some of them strikers, reported and were put to work. At no place was the number large, though as the operators say, there were enough to show that a resumption of work had actually commenced on the morning designated. Everything is quiet, and so far Pinkerton's men have had nothing to do.

A special from Everson, Pa., says the real purpose of sending the Pinkerton men there is to evict men from the company's houses who have signed ironclad leases. They expect to commence operations tomorrow, and as a majority are "Huns" it is safe to predict there will be serious trouble.

THE GOVERNMENT'S DEFEAT. Comment On the Cass Case In the House

mons last night in connection with the Cass case. The Pall Mall Gazette says:

If Matthews were a man of honor and a gentleman, this morning's papers would have announced that he had resigned. He crowned last night's ministerial career of almost continuous failure, by exhibiting combined incapacities almost unprecedented.

The St. James Gazette says:
The episode has damaged the governmedt but little. The breeze will do it good.

The Globe says:
The attitude of Matthews is doubly to be regretted, as it is certain to be turned to party account.

In the house of commons today, Wm. Henry Smith, government leader, referring to the action of the house last night in the Cass case, said the house acted under the wrong impression that the government was opposed to an inquiry in the matter. It was the duty of the government to institute a full and impartial inquiry to establish the truth in connection with the arrest of Miss Cass,
The conduct of the government over the Cass affair has caused discontent, even among the most earnest supporters of the ministry. The explanation made by W. H. Smith in the house of commons was heard in the chilliest silence, except when he announced that the lord high chancellor would institute a thorough inquiry into the matter. In consequence of the feeling in the conservative party, Matthews has offered to resign the office of home secretary. He has been requested, however, to remain in office until the close of the present session of parliament.

Mr. Gladstone today wrote a letter to the marquis of Hartington in answer to his reply to the ex-premier's speech of last Saturday. In this letter Mr. Gladstone says he deemed it his duty to refer, in his speech to the differences which existed between him and Lord Hartington on the Irish question when they were members of the same government.

"Unless these references were inaccurate," says Mr. Gladstone, "the marquis of Hartington is answerable for any inconveniences attending such retrospective references. If they are inaccurate I will willingly consent to the publication of anything deemed necessary to show it."

In conclusion, Mr. Gladstone reaffirms the statements he made Saturday.

London, July 7.—Tonight, Mr. Gladstone will move in the house of commons that the "Crimes bill be read the third time this day these months."

TAXING FOREIGNERS.

PARIS, July 6.—The committee of the chamber of deputies having in charge the measure imposing a tax on foreigners residing in France today heard Falcres, the minister of the interior, argue in opposition to the proposed tax. He said he preferred measures calculated to establish the identity of foreigners residing in France. The committee decided in favor of France. The committee decided in favor of the execution of the measure.

Berlin, July 6.—The North German Gazette, referring to the French foreigners' tax bill, says the moment seems to have arrived for Germany to consider whether all anti-German measures which are being car led out in France should not, in a fally reciprocal maner, he enforced in Germany, especially in Alsace-Lorraine.

The Leipsic Trials. The Leipsic Trials.

Leipsic, July 6.—In the trial yesterday of Klein and others for complicity in the Schnaebles affair, Grebert, one of the prisoners, denied that he had anything to do with the affair. He accused Klein and Laufenberger, the latter a government witness, of being actuated by a desire for revenge against him and of seeking to compromise him. He accounts for the possession of certain papers found on him by saying that he found them among a lot of old books and papers which he bought in a box at a second-hand shop.

The Leipsic Treason Trials.

Leipsic, July 6.—In the treason trial today, the procurator demanded nine years at hard labor for Klein, five years for Grebeat and an acquittal for Erhart. The procurator declared that it was necessary that the trial should be public as only publicity would refute the aspersions and exaggrations of the French press over the Schnaebeles incident. The trial, he said, had brought to light the fact that the French frontier police not only countenanced treason but incited it. No judgment will be pronounced upon the prisoners Friday.

The Newmarket Races. LONDON, July 6.—The race for the imperial gold cup was run at the Newmarket July meeting today, and was won by the duke of Westminster's four-year-old bay-coit, Ormonde. Sir G. Chetwynd's four-year-old chestnut colt White Friar, second. Lord Hasting's three-year-old bay colt Lovegold, third. There were no other starters.

Advice to the Army. TIERNOVA, July 6.—M. Nicolaiff, minister of war, in a speech to officers of the army, today, asked them to absolutely abstain from mixing in politics, and to give their whole attention to the army. He said he was happy to be able to declare that the training and discipline of the Bulgarian army was better now than it had ever been while under Russian discipline, Liverpoot, July 6.—The police today made search of a place where an alleged sworn band of dynamiters were reported to have held their meetings. Nothing of a serious nature was found. The police are now debating the advisability of arresting the suspected men.

DR. McGLYNN'S CASE.

Speculations As To The Penalties Which WIE

Be Visited On Him.

NEW YORK, July 6.—[Special.]—A dispatch from Rome appeared in the morning papers, which was regarded by those who read it, as the final announcement from Rome in the McGlynn matter. This dispatch stated that an order had been sent to Archbishop Corrigan to formally excommunicate Dr. McGlynn, and to publish the decree of excommunication in the public journals.

When the archbishop was shown the dispatch he said:

when the archbishop was shown the dispatch he said:

"I have not yet received such orders although it is likely that they will come soon. No action can be taken until the bills of excommunications are received."

"Of what character do you expert the excommunication to be?" asked the reporter.

"It would be indelicate in me to discuss that subject," replied the archbishop, and so closed the conversation.

From Dr. McGeary and other prominent Roman Catholic theologians it was learned that the nature of Dr. McGlynn's offense permits only of major excommunication, although no priests will undertake to say under which subdivision of major excommunication. There are two subdivisions, excommunicated to tolerati, or persons with whom it is allowable for Catholics to associate; and intolerati, or persons with whom it is forbidden to associate under penalty of excommunication. It seems that if Dr. McGlynn is punished solely for contumacy in disobeying his superiors or the pope, he will be visited with the first or under form, but if his theories which he advocates are pronounced heretical by the pope the doctor will then be guilty both of schism and heresy, and will be classed among the intolerati.

It is very generally thought by the local clergy that the severest form of excommunication will be eventually meted to Dr. McGlynn on account of his prominence and the evil which it is in his power to work among Catholics. Were he an insignificant priest, severity would not be necessary, but it has been the church's polley to give a severe check at the beginning to any of its priests who, on account of their position, could draw others after them. Should Dr. McGlynn be placed among the intolerati by the pope, his excommunication would be read in all the churches or printed in the papers, which has been considered equivalent in the last two centuries. Then his supporters in St. Stephen's parish and elsewhere would have to openly choose between deserting him or being cast without the pale of the church while living, and being b

Creates a Stampede in the Streets of Montgomery.

Montgomery, Ala., July 6.—[Special.]—Today a horse attached to a wagon took fright and ran away, colliding with a lamp post, wrecked the vehicle, tore loose and continued on the run. On Perry street it dashed on the sidewalk, and made for an open salcon door, but was driven off by parties standing near. Thoroughly frenzied, the animal continued a mad gallop and finally dashed into the open archway of the main sisle of the city market, which was crowded with men and women, creating a veritable panic. In the center of the aisle was a high scaffold where five painters were employed painting the roof of the building. The animal struck against the prop and in a second the scaffolding came crashing to the ground, bringing the men with it a distance of thirty feet. Wm. Moore, one of the painters, a brother of Rev. Dr. Moore, of the Methodist church, was knocked unconscious, and sustained painful bruises and contusions, besides severe internal injuries. Three others were slightly injured, and the fifth saved himself by grabbing at a window frame as he was falling, and hanging by his fingers until a ladder was obtained, and he was rescued. The horse was subsequently caught and found to be some what injured. some what injured.

Two negro boys, aged about fifteen and sixteen, respectively, engaged in a fight near Young's bridge, in Coweta county, last Saturday. One of the boys (a son of Clark Pinson) was so severely stabbed by the other that at last accounts it was thought that he would die. A meeting was held at Turin last Saturday to take into consideration the advisability of establishing a guano lactory, and something over $3,000 was subscribed for that purpose. The leading spirits in the enterprise are Messrs. C. J. Harris, J. D. Hunter, Flem Argueld and Milton Secret.

A Bible society was organized last Sunday night in Greenville, with Major John W. Park as president, Hon. H. W. Hill as secretary and Dr. E. B. Terrell as treasurer. A business committee, consisting of Messrs. R. N. Ellis, John L. Strozier, R. M. McCaslan and Dr. E. S. E. Bryan, was also appointed.

It was dangerously wounded in its descent, and has not been able to speak. As the water was very shallow with a rock bottom, a negro descended on a rope and rescued the unfortunate little fellow.

An inquiry was received in Griffin from the Hall Safe and Lock company, stating that vaults, safes, etc., ordered by one H.O. Three years ago he fell from a window to the sidewalk, about twelve feet, head foremost, and was not hurt. A year since he fell quite a distance in his father's house, and only scratched his nose. Last week he fell off the top of his father's house, one story, and received no injuries.

Some enterprising gentlemen. Gillon & Bur-

Some enterprising gentlemen, Gillon & Burnet, of Macon, have purchased a site near the B. & W. railroad, just below Mr. C. C. Buchanan's variety works in Waycross, where they propose to erect a foundry, at an early day. It appears that Waycross will be a splendid point for this business, because the railroad facilities for reaching the entire section are awayle, and for reaching the entire section are ample, and the site selected is convenient for shipping.

The Maysville correspondent of the Columbia Sentinel says that the Mormans are still preaching and teaching their doctrine in that neighborhood. They preach every Sunday at 11 o'clock on the Stern plantation. The people around Goodwin's chapel have formed a mutual society not to entertain or read any of their books, and if any of their neighbors entertain them they should be treated as Mormons.

The Valdosta Times says that a new pestif-erous insect has made its appearance in that section of the country. Exactly what it is, where it came from and who brought it is not where it came from and who brought it is not positively known. It has been variously dubbed "Texas flea," "chicken flea," "chigger," and other names. Some assert that it came from Texas on the Texas ponies, and others claim that it is an importation from south Florida. These insects are about one-third the size of an ordinary flea, and they stick to the victim like a tick. They get on the dogs, chickens, cats, etc., etc., in thick groups or clusters and entirely cover the skin. They are killing out the chickens, cats and dogs in the country. Insect powder has no perceptible effect on them, but mercurial ointment well applied will knock them out on the first round, but they will come back.

Hamp Deloach organized a raiding party several nights ago at Taylor with intent to capture some nice watermelons in DeLoach and Carter's field. He got several boys to join him. Armed with bags to carry a good lot away they entered the field and were thumping about for choice ones when a gun fired near at hand and Hamp fell. The other boys field, but Hamp called pitcously not to be left alone shot down in the field and one of the more convagous ones, after jumping the alone shot down in the field and one of the more courageous ones, after jumping the fence, came running back, and asked Hamp where he was shot. About that time another volley was turned loose upon them and the young man could stand it no longer. He did not stand upon the order of his going but he went over fence and diagonally across a field of corn which suffered as though a small cyclone had gone through it. The young men made a clean breast of it, and reported to those living near by that Hamp had been kfiled; and it was sometime before it leaked out that he was playing a part for fun, and that a job had been put upon the boys.

had been put upon the boys.

One of the most dastardly acts, which came near having a fatal ending, was perpetrated in the county of McDuffie last week. It seems that one Allen Avery, colored, wishing to get rid of his wife, induced her to accompany him from Mr. Barnes's, where they were living, to Mr. W. S. Boyd's, who lives in Lincoln county, near old Raysville. Arriving at an eld well, partly filled up, that was used by Ass Pascal situatedat that time in the yard, but now entirely deserted, the would-be uxorcide seized his wife and after beating and choking her until he thought her dead, threw her into this well and made his escape, but was captured in a few days after by C. J. Dill and John Sutton and lodged in fail at Thomson. The woman, after remaining unconscious at the bottom of the well all night, regained her consciousness and power of locomotion next morning, and managed somehow to climb out of the well and attract the attention of some laborers across the river, who came to her assistance and precured the services of Dr. Boyd, who dressed her wounds, and she is now in a fair way of her wounds, and she is now in a fair way of

Bob Williams, a colored man working for W. A. Greer at Stockton, went to Valdosta on Friday night and returned on Saturday's Shoo Fly, bringing a lot of whisky with him, and boing drunk he remained so until he was shot dead by Gordon Burrows, a man of his race, about 12 o'clock Sunday. The trouble arose between Williams and another fellow, Williams shooting at him. In the meantime Burrows went from where he was to where the shooting was going an to see who it was. Williams ran out with his pistol in his hand, halled Burrows and told him that he wanted to see him, cursing him as he advanced. The witnesses say they do not know the exact words that passed between the two. They say that Williams either gave Burrows his pistol or Burrows took it from him and they don't know which. Anyway Burrows shot Williams with Williams's own pistol and escaped and is yet at large, Williams being a reckless character it is not regret ted by his wife, as he run'her off a week previous, and wrote her a letter during the week to prepare herself for death, that he was going to kill her on Sunday night on the spot he finds her.

Some five or six years since a monster snake was seen in Rawl's pond, six miles below Albany, and the gentleman who saw it related his adventure to a number of incredulous friends. It has remained to this day a matter of jest among the acquaintances of the frightened gentleman, the reported proportions of the huge reptile. Among the number who heard the statement with a mental reservation was Dr. C. P. Hartwell, who owns a plantation embracing the larger part of the swamp surrounding the pond. The doctor is now, however, a firm believer, but it required seeing to convince him. One day last week he was out in the field with his farm hands, and having occasion to go into the edge of the swamp encountered a snake, the sight of which almost took his breath away. The reptile showed fight and the doctor called for his laborers. One responded, but seeing the snake, he field. The others were called and with great poles the brigade surrounded his snakeship, and made an attack that resulted in his death. Dr. Hartwell says that he thought he had seen big snakes before, but all native snakes were midgets by this monster which was larger than any he ever saw in any circumstances. If proved to be of a variety of water snakes, about ten feet long, nearly as large as an ordinary man's thigh in circumference with a very large head. When it opened its mouth it seemed possible for it to enclose a man's head.

Last Thursday morning about three o'clock, a light was discovered in the store of Little & Clark, in Louisville, and an effort was made a light was discovered in the store of Little & Clark, in Louisville, and an effort was made to capture the burglar. Owing to the darkness and heavy rains he passed unseen and unheard out of the window. He left behind one shoes a hatchet and an oil-cloth satchel, which led to his capture. That day a warrant was issued for Hesschel Curtis, a bright mulatto about 18 years old, who was arrested on the fly by Sheriff Kelley. He was coming from Bartow and accidentally hearing of the warrant, he picked Curtis up on the road and brought him to town. He stoutly denied the charge. In his room was found a trunk full of new clothes, worth about $125, and like goods in the store of Little & Clark. He had about five suits of new clothes, one of which is sold by Little & Clark for $25.00; also other kinds of nice clothing. As the different articles were taken out he would say they were bought at Bartow, Wadley, Maxley or at some store in this place. Before being run out of the store that morning he had packed a trunk and valise full of goods worth $88.30, but finding he was detected, left them. So he was about to be the possessor of over two hundred dellars' worth of nice clothing, etc., and be the finest, well-dressed gentleman in the town. He is a fine judge of goods, and selected nothing but the best, and that which would fit, and always took whole suits. After thinking over the matter Thursday night, he confessed the crime Friday morning—a thing unnecessary for the prosecution as the proof was already conclusive against him.

The Wedding Day Set, but He was Afraid to Meet It.

Macon, Ga., July 6.—[Special.]—At four o'clock this evening, a chambermaid at the Daisy house, in going up stairs observed Frank G. Allen, a boarder, standing in the hallway in front of room No. 22, in his night clothes. She thought it a little strange, but said nothing. In nearly an hour Charlie Ross went up stairs, and found Allen stretched on the bed in a dying condition. Physicians were hastily called, and Drs. Williams and M. C. Hatton responded. They found that life was extinct. A coroner's jury was summoned and several witnesses examined, but nothing was developed except that he had killed himself by taking a dose of quick acting poison, supposed, as the doctors thought, to have been an acid. There were a half emptied glass of whisky, an empty half pint flask, and one or two empty vials, with a borj of capsule pills on the mantel.

W. G. Sparks, his employer, was summoned and he testified in subtance that Allen was his bookkeeper, and had been for about two years. He was addicted to periodical sprees. He got on a spree in June, and Sparks talked with him then, and he promised to do better. He was taken back and did very well until July 4th, when he got on a drunk again. Sparks talked with him then, but saw no more of him till this morning, when he discharged him. He promised to write something to Sparks that he desired he should know, and when Allen called at the warehouse today Sparks expected he had brought the letter. While he was talking to Allen, Sparks thought he heard a pistol click, and asked his brother, "Where is my pistol?" His brother replied that he supposed Mr. Allen had it. Sparks then asked Allen if he had it, and the latter answered yes, at the same time unbuttoning his vest and drawing it out. As he drew it out, Sparks noticed that he had a large knife concealed in his bosom. Allen said:

"You promised to do all you could for me."

"Yes, and I will," answered Sparks.

"Well, all I want you to do is that if I am dead tomorrow, is to see

Sparks told him to go home and go to bed, and Allen walked away. It is said he got very drunk during the day. It was disclosed that Allen had been for some time engaged to a young lady of high social standing, when he got drunk in June. They were to be married the 23rd, but she broke it off temporarily, and finally they made it up, setting the time on Wednesday (tomorrow) evening. Quite a number of friends were invited, and preparations were all complete for a private wedding. It is supposed that Allen, filled with remorse, having no money and being discharged, made up his mind to kill himself. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict that, after hearing all the testimony, it was the opinion of the jury that deceased killed himself for causes unknown to the jury. Allen was a man of twenty-eight or thirty years of age, and very genial in his disposition. Sparks told him to go home and go to bed, Washington, June 21.—Postmaster, Lawrence-ville, Ga.—Dear Sir: I write to know if you will kindly care for and liberate four homing pigeons for me. The postmaster-general referred to you as an obliging and responsible party. I will ship the birds as soon as I receive the enclosed postal from you. My instructions to liberators are as follows: After-receiving the birds feed and water them. Liberate them before 40 'clock a. m., when the weather is clear and the wind from the southwest. Do not liberate them unless there is a breeze from the southwest. I don't care how hard it blows from that quarier. Under no circumstances liberate them if it is caim, for on such a long journey (515) miles) they must have a fair wind to make the distance in one day. After receiving them allow no one to handle them, for their feathers possess a peculiar kind of bloom which comes off on the hands, and when rubbed off from their feathers greatly retard fast fiying. These birds flew from Columbia, S. C., 401 miles, last Sunday, June 19. I will send you full particulars of the race, which is to beat the best record from 30 miles, now held by a New York man whose bird made the distance in 14 hours. Should our birds make it in the same time it will beat the world, as our station is seven miles further. If it is not favorable for liberation the day after receiving hold until it is. Send me a. C. O. D. telegram stating the time liberated, weather and wind, so I can be on the lookout for them. If there is anything you don't understand about these instructions just say so on the enclosed card, also say whether it will be convenient to liberate or not. Yours, etc.,

OPINIONS OF MACON WAREHOUSEMEN.

The Cheapest Made Crop for Years—The Fertilizer Trade—Other News From the Central City.

Macon, Ga., July 6.—[Special.]—Today your correspondent interviewed all the warehouse men in Macon and the leading dealers in fertilizers on the crop prospect and the outlook for farmers generally. The results indicate a fair prospect and a favorable outlook on all sides throughout middle Georgia.

W. H. Jones is a prominent merchant and warehouseman in East Macon. In reply to the query as to the outlook he said:

"If all reports be true, and many of them I

"If all reports be true, and many of them I can substantiate by personal observation, the outlook for a good crop of cotton is very flattering. The crop is fuller of fruit than it has been at this season of the year in several years." "No, it has been made cheaper by twenty-five per cent than any crop in five years. You see the favorable spring season gave the plant-ers an opportunity to start even and keep even, and the weeds and grass have stood no showing." "Have the farmers gone in debt much?"

"No, I can't say that they are. We are running fifty per cent more than we have before, and, have, of course, advanced more. Some of our old customers have been getting more money, too, but with a finer prospect of being able to meet their obligations."

"How about the Covington and Macon "Well, you know we have done an immens

"Well, you know we have done an immense business in the counties of Jones and Jasper, heretofore, but our business has largely in-creased since the road has begun operations, for the reason that marketing is easier for those at a distance. Heretofore many of our customers have shipped their cotton at Flo-villa and other points, but this year we will get the cotton ourselves." get the cotton ourselves."
"Do you handle fertilizers?"
"No. Stink too bed."

"No. Stink too bad."
The firm of Davis & Bolckam, the Mulberry

The firm of Davis & Bolckam, the Mulberry strect warehouse men, were next called on. Captain Davis, who is mayor pro tem among the board of aldermen, was busy at his desk. "Captain, how are the crop reports?" "Well, sir, they are very gratifying. The cotton season has been very favorable, especially of late, since the fine rains have come. Last year the May and June rains held the crops back and sent the weeds forward, and this year it has been the reverse." "Guess the crop has been made cheaper. Guess the crop has been made cheaper,

"Guess the crop has been made cheaper, then?"

"At least twenty-five per cent cheaper. We deal with customers in Jones, Wilkinson, Baldwin, Twiggs, Laurens, Houston, Crawford, Monree, Jasper and Bibb. In these counties the crop is much better. Corn has been injured in some places, but the season has been glorious for the bottom lands. A few more rains will give us a fine yield of corn."
"How has your business been?" "How has your business been?"

"Well, our old customers have done on less, but our business has advanced so largely that we have increased a great deal more than last year. Individually speaking, our customers have borrowed less; collectively, we have advanced or great deal work."

"How about the new road?"
"It has benefited us greatly, and by its means we have been able to secure a great means we have been able to secure a great many more customers."

Mr. W. G. Sparks, on Third street, was next seen. He said:

"I am sure crops are twenty-five per cent better than for three or four years. Our loans have been less than they have in several years. The reason of this is: I have disconned some large planters who borrowed heavily, and have taken on some who require less. Consequently, while my business remains about the same, as to the number of customers, I am really out less money than formerly."

"How about fertilizers?"

"My old customers have used none, and I equally as much but for the exhausting of the supply."

A. B. Small, the commission merchant, who deals in Soluble Pacific guano, was seen: "I have sold ten per cent more than last year, and found the demand fair. Fertilizers have had a fine chance this year, for I never saw better seasons nor more promising crops. I believe my farm, a few miles below here, will yield a hundred and fifty bales. I have just returned from a trip through the country, and I tell you the prospects are very flattering." prospects are very flattering."

Willis L. Price, whose warehouse is on Fourth street, was next visited.

"Crops are much better," said he, "and I heard a farmer say today that he had made his crop from five to ten dollars per bale cheaper than last year."

"How about money?"

"My old customers have not borrowed as much as usual, because they have not required it. Less day labor on account of the favorable seasons. My business, however, has increased 334 per cent on account of taking on more Flanders Bros. were interviewed, and Mr. Flanders said: "The cotton crop is 25 per cent. better than it was at this season last year. The farmers say that it is just as good as they want.

A few weeks ago there was complaint of lice, and some patches were injured, but this has passed away with better seasons. I heard a man say yesterday that he had seen some worms in his patch, but was un-man say yesterday that he had seen some worms in his patch, but was unable to say whether they were the cotton caterpillar or not, but he thought they were not."

"How about your advances?"

"I think our customers have done on fifty per cent less. They employed plow hands at the beginning, and then depended on day labor, of which they have needed but little. They are economizing, and I believe they will make the crop on twenty-five per cent less outlay than usual." lay than usual."
"You deal in fertilizers?"

lay than usual."

"You deal in fertilizers?"

"Only Pendleton's superphosphate, of Atlanta. Our sales fell off half at least. The reason was that the planters hesitated and wavered, and there was no demand early in the season. They did not know what they wanted. Later on they came in with a rush, we sold all we could get, and the rest got left. A man was in here today trying to purchase some. Had we been able to supply the later demand our sales would have run away up."

Coleman & Ray, commission merchants and warehousemen, were next seen.

"The cotten crop, I should say," said Mr. Coleman, "is at least ten per cent better than last year at this period. It was made cheaper, and our customers have borrowed less to go upon than for several years past. We have had an increase in numbers, but a decided decrease in amounts individually."

"How about the guano trade?"

"We sold more than usual, on acrount of increase in business, but speaking as regards our regular customers, about the same proportionately."

"How about the corn crop?"

our regular customers, about the same proportionately."

"How about the corn crop?"

"It is just about made. On the uplands it has been cut off-one-fourth to one-third. On the bottoms it has surpassed that of any season within five years. In the river bottoms along the Flint and Chattahoochee the crops are wonderful. I heard a farmer say today that he hoped to gather eight thousand bushels off of two hundred and fifty acres."

Rogers, Worsham & Co. deal largely in kainit and acid phosphates. They said that their trade had increased twenty-five percent.

"Our solution of the problem," said they,
"is that farmers have learned that they can make a fertilizer with cotton seed that is as good or better than manipulated guanos, for twenty-three to twenty-five dollars per ton, whereas they have been in the habit of paying thirty-five to thirty-eight."

A. P. Adams & Co., warehousemen, thought the crops much better. The crop had evidently been made much cheaper, perhaps ten per cent. Their advances to customers about the same as usual. They thought the corn crop hardly up to the standard.

Campbell & Jones were called upon. Said Mr. Campbell : "The cotton crop is evidently better than for several years. But we have the thirteen calamities to expect in July and August. It was a June crop of fruit, something we have not had in several years. The farmers have tried to squeeze through on iess, and have possibly made the crop cheaper, but I don't think we ought to publish anything that would cause them to be hammered any worse. Our advances have been about the same, but I think a good deal of the money was used to settle up old store debts."

C. B. and B. E. Willingham reported favorably. Said Mr. Broadus Willingham: "In Houston and Monroe counties the cotton crop is twenty-five per cent better than in five years. Some claim it has cost one-third less to make it, and I believe it has cost a fourth less. There have been fewer complaints about labor than I ever heard. Our advances have been about the same, and I think the farmer's outlook decidedly better."

Captain John R. West, until recently agent for the Chesapeake Guano company, thought that his sales would not vary three hundred tons either way.

Effects.

Macon, Ga., July 6.—[Special.]—Meeting City Physician Walker on the streets today your correspondent inquired as to the health of the city.

"I think it is as good as usual," said he, "and I see no cause for complaint."

"Why is it that negro mortality is so much greater than white?"

"Well, you will observe that one batch of deaths for June was fourteen, thirteen colored and one white. The principal reason for this is lack of sanitary precautions and exposure, with careless diet and reckless living generally. One will go tolchurch and shout until the body is bathed in perspiration, then go home, perhaps eat watermelon at midnight, and then lie down and sleep in that condition. The result is liability to contract diseases and disability to recover from an attack."

"What diseases are most fatal?"

"Infantile mortality is greatest. The children are left alone in the care of others as young and irresponsible as themselves, almost, and a mother will tall you that she knew the

"Yes," said a druggist present, "and they will come and ask for five cents worth of medicine rather than call a physician, having no idea of the disease or the proper remedy."

"What kills the older ones, doctor."

"Consumption is the principal disease, and this is traceable in the majority of cases to venereal affections. Before the war I never heard of a negro having consumption. Now, as my last report will show, it is the principal cause of death here, and not only here but in other southern cities as well. Some die suddenly, of heart disease, and that is brought about by insufficient diet, poor ventilation, voluntary exposure, and a general disregard and ignorance of all hygiena conditions." This having closed the performance as down on the programme, Professor Forrester was about to dismiss the audience, when Mr. Ed. Colonel Hammond and the Supreme Court

Judgeship.

The delay of the president in appointing a supreme court judge has developed nothing that weakens the standing or chances of Georgia's candidate—the Hon. N. J. Hammond. On the contrary, it may be said that he has strengthened under research and that his fitness has become plainer in the light of competition.

It is much to Colonel Hammond's credit that a great state stands united and earnest at his back. There were many other candidates for the judgeship from this statemen of eminent ability and merit. One after the other they withdrew in favor of Colonel Hammond, until he stands the sole choice of this state, earnestly indorsed by its two senators, its unbroken congressional delegation, the bar of nearly every city, town and village, and its people from the mountains to the seaboard.

The president is steadily reported to have reached two decisions on the subject of the appointment and to have frankly declared them-1st. That he will appoint the new judge from this judicial circuit. 2nd. That he will not appoint any man who is over 55 years of age. The first of these decisions is eminently fair and just and is probably irrevocable. The second it seems to us is equally proper. If the president makes his appointment under them, Colonel Hammond will be appointed beyond any doubt. The candidates who are not cut out by one decision, go down under the other—leaving Colonel Hammond almost, if not entirely, without competition.

Beyond these reasons—the unanimous indorsement of his state-his residence in the circuit—and his acceptable age—Colonel Hammond has especial fitness for the bench. He is a superb lawyer-learned, profound and able. His mind is of a judicial cast, and his temperament is impartial and deliberate. It goes without saying that his integrity of thought, as of action, is unquestioned. He would honor the bench and honor the administration that appoints him The president cannot do better than listed to and respect the earnest and unanimous voice of this great state-especially when he is informed that it is raised in behalf of Colonel Hammond by none of the enthusiasm or magnetism that rallies men about political leaders, in which Colonel Hammond is confessedly deficient, but is the unsolicited and deliberate tribute to the ability and integrity of a man of peculiar fitness for the place to be filled.

The Same Old Lie.

The Indianapolis Journal congratulates the south upon its progress in agriculture and attributes it to the abandoning of the old social ideas formerly held by the whites. If the Journal means that the white people of the south lived in idleness before the war it is very much mistaken. The large planters were busily engaged looking after their estates, and the small farmers never shirked work of any kind.

In his work on "The New South," Mr. M. B. Hillyard says of the small slaveholders and those who owned no slaves:

These people were generally poor, une us. They worked in the field and taught their children to work. If they owned a few slaves they went to the field and worked with them. They owned small farms, and generally lived rather remote from centers of trade. They raised their own com and pork, made some oats and wheat, and their own molasses. They kept a few cattle. The wife and daughters made some butter, raised poul-try, and in many instances spun and wove the wool clipped from the sheep raised at home. The home was homely and made of logs, perhaps. Father and sons were good shots, and the wild turkey, the deer, squirrel and bear frequently fell beneath their rifle.
These people were self-supporting. If they raised a Bittle cotton, instead of paying the merchants bills for advances to them, the money from its sale, after buying some coffee and clothing, went back to the to be put in the family bank, the home-knit tocking, or to be buried in the garden or forest.

The lives of these people had two great lessons for the world and the south. They were living refutations of the old dogma that white people could not stand labor in the field. Despite bad houses, indif-ferent food, too free use of tobacco by both sexes, large potations of black coffee, and great disregard of the weather in work or play, no people could be more healthy. The children were chubby, rosy, ro-bust, and with constitutions like a wild cat. The women were fecund beyond belief.

Here, now, was this white man with his children working from sunrise to sunset. He was there in the mountains of Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia; in the hills of Alabama, the pine woods of Missis-sippi, Florida and Louisiana. He was too poor to own rich lands. Strange that the world has not learned that there were tens of thousands of white workers in the field before the war who did just as good and rather better work than the slave!

Mr. Hillyard states nothing that was not known to all southerners familiar with the status of things before the war, but northern writers still stick to their old story that the poor whites of the south are too lazy to work in the field, and that in point of fact the climate is against it. Nothing could be farther from the trath. A white man can work all summer in any state in the south, without running much risk of being sun struck, but the same cannot be said of the northern states. Our summers are long, but they are without the oppressive heat that prevails in the middle and New England states. Our summer climate is th best in the world, and is peculiarly suited to the constitution of the white man

When it comes to activity and industry, it cannot be said that the northerners who have been drifting down this way for a century or so, have ever beat the record of the natives. And they are not likely to do it.

The young lady, who did not appear at all unused to the position, was the Senorita Guadolupe Sulnago. Her father, Senor Sunnago, a tall, military looking man, stood at her right, while at her left the Marquis de Vivanco toyed with his tumbler of liquor with refreshing abandon. Mr. Leo Stein, president of the National bank of Moxico, gave evidence of great thirst as he raised his glass to his lips, and his protege, Luis Garcia Trenii, looked bashful and unused to strong drink.

Mr. Scott has in his establishment a very fine nusic box, and the cat has been noticed listening to its strains for hours as a time. One evening re cently the feline prima donna powered forth in a rich and clear contralto the medley of the "Grand Duchess." To say that her owner was astonished would be putting it mildly. He immediately called in several of his neighbors to listen to the wonder, but it was love's labor lost, for the music was stonged. A few evenings later she again poured stopped. A few evenings later she again pot forth her liquid notes, this time rendering in fine style "Listen to the Mocking Bird." Several gentlemen fortunately were present, and listened wit surprise and delight to perhaps the greatest wonder of the age. Many times during the past week the song cat has tuned herself to the sweetest melody, and each time to the delight of interested hearers Her owner is justly proud of her, and of course values her highly. But the yo lady tried persuasion, cajolement, scolding, tracts, presents, and everything else that a good heart and earnest purpose could suggest to induce him to abandon his intemperate habits. But it was all in vain. At last, in a fit of pardonable impatience, she said to him one day:

"I declare, George, I'd give you a thousand dol-lars if you'd give up drinking."
"Lor', young miss," replied the old incorrigible, 'd'ye know what I'd do wid dat thousand dollars if I had it? THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT

Mrs. Cleveland Will Accompany Him to Atlanta.

The Preparations For the Exposition Going On-The Central Railroad Subscribes $1,000.00 For the Exposition. We are able to announce this morning positively that Mrs. Cleveland will accompany the president to Atlanta when he comes to visit the exposition. This information will give as much pleasure to our people as the original announcement of the president's determination. It is fixed by the directors of the exposition that the president will leave Washington on Sunday night, the 16th, on a special train, and will reach Atlanta Monday evening. He will spend Tuesday and Wednesday in Atlanta. and leave Wednesday evening for Washington, reaching the capital Thursday at five n'clock. We are unable to state at this time what members of the cabinet will accompany him, but some of the cabinet officers will in all probability accompany their chief.

It is ninety-five days from this morning, in cluding Sundays, until the gates of the Pied-mont exposition are opened to the public.

Work During the Bainy Days.

The July showers do not interfere with the work at Piedmont park. On Monday not more than an hour was lost. The heavy rain of the day began about two minutes to twelve o'clock when the hands rest for dinner, and ceased about one as they were ready to begin work after dinner, clearly showing that the weather is favorable to the exposition.
On Tuesday and Wednesday only about an hour was lost each day. If the rains do not deepen they will not prove a serious hindrance. THE RAILROADS AND THE EXPOSITION The Central Road Subscribes One Thousand Dollars. SAVANNAH, Ga., July 6.—[Special.]—At the meeting of the directors of the Central road held in this city today a resolution was passed subscribing one thousand dollars to the Piedmont exposition. C.

As already announced, the Richmond and Danville road has subscribed a thousand dollars to the exposition, besides giving twenty per cent of the receipts from the city to the park and return, and building two sidetracks nto the grounds and erecting a depot. The East Tennessee read has subscribed fifteen hundred dollars and the Western and Atlantic road one thousand dollars.

On Tuesday at the meeting of the directors of the West Point road Mr. Patrick Calhoun appeared before the board and asked for subscription of one thousand dollars for that road. The directors appointed a committee consisting of Colonel L. P. Grant, president of the road, General E. P. Alexander, and Major J. W. Greene to consider what was best in the premises and to act. It is altogether likely that this committee will recommend a sub-scription of one thousand dollars on the part ofithe West Point road. Major J. W. Gree has not yet acted for the Georgia road, but it is probable that he will do so about the 13th of the month, when he will have a consultation with General E. P. Alexander and Mr. H. M. Smith who represents the Louisville and Nashville road, which is jointly interested with the Central road in the lease of the Georgia road. An application for one thousand dollars subscription from the Georgia Pacific road has not yet been acted on, but in all probability it will be granted.

Upper Georgia Will Be There.

—The Bills Introduced.

Georgia's solons were on hand bright and early, yesterday morning, apparently eager for the legislative fray—and fry.

The attendance upon the first day of the ses-sion was noticeably large, but two senators and ten members of the house failing to answer "here" to the first roll call. There were the usual scenes incident to the opening of a session. At an early hour the two chambers presented an animated scene as the members dropped in to greet and be greet-ed by their friends. When the hour fixed for the re-convening of the adjourned session arrived, the two houses settled down to work without wasting any time.

It was expected that the senate would take an immediate adjournment out of respect to the decease of Senators Word and Smith, but this was not done. It is probable that some fitting action will be taken in the near future.

RAILWAY DEGISLATION.

A feature of yesterday's work in the house was the introduction of a large number of bills. Among those in which especial interest will be felt are several incorporating new milred to the several incorporating new railroads.

Mr. Weil introduced a bill amending the charter of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad, authorizing it to construct a line to Atlanta and to Austell, and to build branch roads.

Mr. Bray's bill incorporating the Atlantic, Atlanta and Great Western railroad and

The company is empowered to build branch roads, to have ships, etc. The capital stock is $25,000,000.

Mr. Smith, of Glynn, is the father of a measure incorporating the Brunswick and Atlanta railroad. The corporators are W. E. Kay, C. P. Goodyear, U. Dart, of Brunswick; A. H. Cox, Atlanta. Capital stock, $1,000,000.

[[THE CHATTAHOOCHEE JUDGESHIP.

[ITHE CHATTAHOOCHEE JUDGESHIP.
One of the most interesting contests to come before the legislature is that of the superior court judgeship of the Chattahoochee circuit. That circuit embraces the counties of Chattahoochee, Harris, Marion, Muscogee, Talbot and Taylor. The position is now held by ex-Governor James M. Smith, he having been appointed by Governor Gordon to the vacancy created by the death of Judge T. J. Willis.

Governor Smith is a candidate for election and the general opinion is that he will be elected by the legislature, although he will have a strong competitor in Hon. J. M. Mathews, of Talbot county.

The Senate.

Just as the clock in the senate chamber marked the hour of ten o'clock, Hon John S. Davidson, president of the senate, rapped the Daylason, president of the senate, rapped the body to order.

Rev. Dr. John Jones offered prayer. He feelingly referred to the death of Senator D. N. Smith, of the twenty-first district, and Senator E. M. Word, of the thirty-fourth district, which sad events occurred during the recess. In his prayer, the chaplain spoke of the dead senators as two whose lives seemed all before them, and whose career promised to be as bright as those of any members of the body.

Upon the call of the roll, every senator responded except Mr. Hand, of the eighth, and Mr. Lewis, of the nineteenth. The minutes of the last sesion having been read last winter before adjourning for the recess, the reading at this time was dispensed with at this time was dispensed with.

Mr. Hawkes, of the 13th, offered a resolution directing the secretary to inform the house of representatives that the senate had met pursuant to adjournment, and was ready for business. This was adopted, and the message was beard. He made a good impression upon his fellow-members.

It was announced that Mr. Hamilton had been placed on the following committees: Finance, railroads, penitentiary, education, deaf and dumb asylum, petitions, and made chairman of the committee on printing.

The house of representatives reported that it had concurred in the senate resolution providing for a committee to weit upon the ernor. An invitation was received by the senate from Senator James, of the thirty-sixth, and Messrs. E. W. Ample accommodations exist, and the senators are assured that an enjoyable time will be prepared for them. It is likely that anumber of senators will leave this afternoon and spend the night at Sait Springs, returning in time for Friday's session.

A communication was read from General Manager E. B. The members were in the hall by nine o'clock and spent the time in interchanging greetings. A noticeable fact was the unanimity with which the members of the house got down to work. Hon. Louis F. It will be remembered that one night last week Mr. Barrett was going home and, when near the corner of Marietta and Bartow streets, near the corner of Marietta and Bartow streets, ran into a crowd of boys who were out on a lark. Some trouble ensued, and cases were made against Mr. Barrett, the gentleman assaulted, and — Varnado, of the assailing party, who appeared to be the leader. The next day the officers became satisfied that a young man named Connelly and another named McGrath were connected with the affair, and cases were made against them. The trial was set for the sixth, and yesterday all the parties concerned were on hand, but the case was continued.

All of the boys arrested deny that any harm was intended, and repudiate the Wild Cat club. They feel satisfied that when Judge Anderson hears the testimony he will dismiss the cases. The people residing along Marietta street, and in the western portion of the city, are getting tired of the wild cat business. They assert that no such organization exists, and say that they will no longer be annoyed by rumors of desperate and daring deeds by reckless boys.

A Policeman Arrested for Contempt of Court.

During the trial in the city court yesterday morning of William Hardin, a colored man, who was indicted for assault and battery, a lively episode happened.

The prosecutor was Policeman Patrick McCullough. A few weaks ago this officer arrested the defendant for being drunk and disorderly in one of the cars of the Wheat street line. The negro resisted arrest and fought his captor. It was as much as McCullough could do to take him to the stationhouse, find he was forced several times to use his club apon Harden's head.

A few days after this occurrence McCullough went before a justice of the peace and swore out a warrant charging Harden with assault and battery. He was bound over to court, and yesterday morning was arraigned. He put in a plea of "not guilty," and was defended by Mr. Robert J. Jerdan.

The principal witness for the prosecution was the policeman. When he was placed upon the witness stand he was subjected to a rigid cross-examination. He chafed under the searching process and gave short and sharp answers to Mr. Jordan's questions. His language hecame so disrespectful that the judge admonished him to be more orderly. The witness persisted in his noisy manner until the court ordered the sheriff to arrest him for contempt.

The friends of Mr. McCullough, who is one

The friends of Mr. McCullough, who is one of the cleverest men on the police ferce, regret that he should have allowed his temper to get the better of him. The judge will let him off with a reprimand.

Rufus Jones Is Bound Over—A Melon ker In Trouble—A Habens Corpus Case—Other Incidents.

Captain Couch, who has resumed charge of his squad, discovered a most pitiable and terribly afflicted family yesterday afternoon.

The family came from Italy, and has been in Atlanta about three or four months. It consisted of a husband, wife and three children, but in the past three days death has scaled the five to three, and of the three two more are liable to die. When the Italians reached the city the received a room in the third floor of city they seemed a room in the third floor of the Fuller building, on Alabama street. The the Fuller building, on Alabama street. The husband found old jobs among his countrymen in the gate city, while one of the children added to the family treasury by passing his hat around in a crowd he would gather by playing on the accordeon. About two weeks ago the entire family was taken sick. The illness affected each one alike and came on suddenly. In a day or two every member was down and being unable to provide for themselves, were thrown upon the city. The wife and children were taken to the benevolent home and the husband remained in his room. On Monday one child died, yesterday the wife followed and later in the day the old man was found in his room in an extremely critical condition. The other children are yet quite sick.

Frank Patillo in Trouble.

Frank Patillo came to Atlauta from Rome, and since he has been in the gate city he has had various experiences. His latest exploit was being arrested yesterday by Captain Crim. His arrest was due to a charge of larceny after trust, the complainant being C. D. Barker, of the Southern Star. The complainant asserts that Patillo collected money and failed to turn it over. Several months ago Patillo tried to marry a well known Atlanta lady, but she objected. He went so far as to purchase a marriage license and showed it to her. He also exhibited it publicly and announced his engagement to the lady. The lady heard of the license, and sending for Captain Crim requested him to look after Patillo. That evening Patillo tore up the license in the presence of Captain Crim. Frank Patillo in Trouble.

Served With a Writ.

Dr. Foute, the stationhouse keeper, who works with the morning watch, will rack down to see Judge Calhoun this afternoon at three o'clock and will carry with him Green Moss, a negro who has been in the city prison several days. Moss was arrested by Officers Steerman and Phillips upon the charge of larceny. Several months ago another negro lost twenty-two dollars and charged Moss with the loss. Moss could not be found until last week. After his arrest the man who claimed to have lost the money could not be found, and the officers were in the act of turning him out when the marshal of Covington telegraphed that Moss Served With a Writ. marshal of Covington telegraphed that Moss was wanted by him for burglary. Yesterday Mr. Ed Orr, Moss's attorney, swore out a warrant of habeas corpus, which was served on Dr. Foute, the custodian of the prisoner.

While the night express passenger of the Georgia railroad was speeding onward to Augusta, on Tuesday night, after it had passed Edgewood, several stone-cutters engaged in a regular riot in one of the coaches. They had imbibed pretty freely of "nerve tonic," and it is said there is bad blood between the parties to the row. A young man named Robert Hix, living at Stone Mountain, cut a Scotch stone-cutter in the neck and another on the hand. Major J. W. Greene, general manager of the road, had Hix arrested at Decatur. The arrest was made by Tode Hurst, the newly-elect. ed marshal, who is but twenty-two years old, and the youngest marshal in the state. Hix gave bond in $100. The wounds of the Scotchmen are not serious. Knife-Work on a Train.

About a Lot of Melons.

Officer Thompson, of the call service, returned from Valdosta yesterday morning, bringing with him D. S. Boyer, the broker in bringing with him D. S. Boyer, the broker in melons and fruit, for whom he went.
Boyer's arrest in Valdosta was sanctioned by a charge preferred against him by J. J. Falvey, the wholesale commission merchant on Broad street. It appears that Mr. Falvey had some dealings with Boyer by which the latter became a debtor to the amount of $140 or $150. Mr. Falvey made several attemps to secure his money, and failing to do so, caused Boyer's arrest in Valdosta. After the officer reached Atlanta yesterday morning a preliminary trial was arranged, and Boyer was admitted to bail

Bound Over in One Hundred Dollars Rufus Jones, twin brother to Remns Jones, was arraigned in police court yesterday morning to answer to the charge of disorderly conduct on the fourth. NEW YORK, July 6.—The temper of the stree was again bearish this morning and the stock market was feverish but generally weak throughout most of the day. There was considerably more activity displayed than on yesterday and business was much better distributed, although the great bulk of trading done was monopolized by six or eight stocks. A story was circulated that the efforts were principally directed against one prominent operator, which created a somewhat uneasy feeling. Operators for the decline lacked the aid of high rates for money, however, and late in the day a much better money, however, and late in the day a much better feeling was developed and the rallies became more important. Considerable effect was had upon the general list by the weakness in Cotton Seed Oil Cer-tificates, in which several stop orders were uncov-ered and a decline of nearly five points effected. In the general list Louisville and Nasyville, Pacific

Mail and New England were the most conspicuously weak, while Reading, which was quieter than for several days past, was remarkably well held. Western Union also displayed marked strength late in the day on very good buying, Manhattan broke 2 per cent on sales of only 200 shares, but the movements of a majority of the remainder were comparatively unimportant. The opening was somewhat irregular but generally weak, though the changes from yesterday's final figures were for mere fractions only. The market was active but with a few insignificant advances became decidedly weak nificant advances became decidedly weak aghout, with Pacific Mail, New England and sville and Nashville in the lead. There was a Louisville and Nashville in the lead. There was a marked decrease in the amount of business done on all railies except that of the last hour, and after the first hour the movement in prices was less violent, although feverishness continued to be a marked characterise of trading. In the afternoon the strength displayed by Western Union alded the better feeling developed in the list, although New England again became conspicuously weak. The market in the last hour showed increased strength and the close was steady to firm though quiet, generally at fractional concessions from the opening figures. Almost the entire active list is lower, Louisville and Nashville being one of the most conspicuous ex-

portant Publication.

Mr. C. W. Norwood, of the firm of Norwood, Connelly & Co., publishers of The Directory of Atlanta, being suddenly called to the city by threatened opposition from the parties who opposed them last year, requests the publication of the following:

It seems we are again to meet with opposition in our work of issuing The Directory of Atlanta. This is greatly to be regretted for Atlanta. This is greatly to be regretted, for the double reason that it makes it as unpleasant for the citizens of Atlanta as for ourselves, and we would respectfully ask attention while explaining our position.

It was not until after the death of the former

It was not until after the death of the former publisher of the Atlanta City Directory that we entered the field believing it open as rightfully to us as to anyone else, and believing furthermore that we could give entire satisfaction in our work. At the outset we found an opponent in the firm of R. L. Polk & Co., of Detroit, Mich., who finally withdrew, and we issued our book, which we know has given general satisfaction. We employed residents of the city to assist us; had the printing and binding done by Atlanta firms, viz: The Constitution Publishing company and R. J. Maynard, thus making it, in every sense of the word, a home institution. The greatest care was given to the work to make it one that would reflect credit upon the city, and ourselves as well. All of our busings city, and ourselves as well. All of our city, and ourselves as well. All of our business transactions have been open and honorable, and when we took up our labors in other fields, announcing that we would renew our work here in the fall of 1887 for our 1888 volume. We then felt, as we do now, secure in the friendship of the people of Atlanta, and also in the assurance from the above mentioned firm that they would not further oppose us.

salted between him and her. He was determined to recover the deed; so one day when she was away from home, he went into her room and abstracted the paper from her trunk. In a few days she discovered the loss and flew in a rage to her husband, demanding its immediate restoration. He firmly refused to give it to her. The following day his wife and one of her grown sons, by her first husband (she had no offspring by Carbine), came into his room and demanded the deed. Carbine says that she was armed with an ax, and she swore she would break open the trunk and get the deed if she died for it. Carbine was remonstrating with her when the son, a stalward fellow, crept behind him and struck him that they would not further oppose us.

While deeply engrossed in our work on the directory of Chattanooga we were advised by friends that our territory here was in danger of invasion again by the same parties, and forthwith we returned and made a prelimand forthwith we returned and made a preliminary canvass among our former patrons, securing contracts sufficient to cover the cost of our next volume. Feeling doubly secure we returned to the completion of other work, and were again assured by the representative of this firm that they would not molest us.

Today they have their men in the city with the avowed purpose of publishing a directory described by the property of the context of t

As well talk of buying the firmament above us; there is abso-lutely no protection for a directory publisher against opposition, either by purchase or copy-

We wish it understood that we will issue the Directory of Atlanta for 1888, and for each year thereafter. We have contracted with the leading publishing house in the city with the leading publishing house in the city—The Constitution—to do our printing and binding also for years. We are content to submit to the business men of Atlanta whether or not we deserve their continued support or whether they will sustain a firm that has or whether they will sustain a firm that has acted so ungenerously and unbusinesslike, We have not a word to utter against them further than as stated herein. The writer has a persol acquaintance with the leading spirits of this firm and has never spoken of them other than kindly, and their antagonism is difficult to comprehend.

Further than this we have nothing to say except to request all our old nations to reserve except to request all our old patrons to reserve their orders for us when we begin our regular canvass of the city, which will be early in the fall. Information taken sooner than this will be utterly worthless, for at that time all changes are made for the year. Hoping to merit and receive continued sup-

The case which has been pending in police court against C. P. Johnson for several weeks passed was disposed of by Judge Anderson yesterday morning.

Soon after the case was first entered Mr. Johnson stated that he would quit the wine room business if the judge would dismiss the case. He had been fined for violating the prohibition law, and when his attorney informed Judge Anderson of his client's intention, the judge asked Mr. Johnson a few questions. By the dialogue Judge Anderson ascertained that Mr. Johnsyn had at that time a small quantity of wine room goods on hand and that he wanted to dispose of the stock before closing up.

At the request of Mr. Johnson's attorney, Judge Anderson agreed to give Mr. Johnson time to dispose of his stock and to continue the case to that time. Yesterday was the last day and during the session of police court Mr. Johnson informed Judge Anderson that he had sold out everything and had opened a eigar and tobacco store.

AFTER THE RECORDS.

A Lively Session of the Road and Revenue Commissioners.

WHAT WILL THE ABSTRACT COMPANY

Do About It?-The Matter of Collecting the Back Taxes Discussed—The Street Railroads and Boulevard.

The commissioners of roads and revenues have determined to do everything in their power to restore the lost records.

The matter was brought up the regular meeting of the board yesterday, and a lively exchange of voices upon the subject was the Colonel Geo. W. Adair started the ball rolling by reading the following resolutions:

Resolved, That a committee of two be appointed who, together with the attorney for the county, shall confer with the abstract company for the purpose of obtaining the consent of its officers for the county to duplicate the lost records from the abstract lower and county to duplicate the lost records from the ab-stract books; and Resolved, That if the officers of the abstract com-pany refuse to allow the county to duplicate the lost records from the abstract books, then the com-mittee is instructed to at once advertise a local bill to repeal the special privileges heretofore given by the legislature to R. C. Mitchell & Co., and their successors and assigns.

"This is a

"This is a

MATTER OF GREAT MOMENT to the people of the county," began Colonel Adair as he proceeded to give his reasons why the resolutions should be adopted. "The people are very much stirred up about the missing records, and I think the commissioners will be upheld in any steps looking to their recovery. You see, the people of Atlanta do a great deal of trading in real estate, and they consider it a hardship to have to pay the abstract company a big fee for any abstract they may desire. The loss of the records was a misfortune, but we have, in my opinion, an easy way to rectify that loss. It seems to me that in all equity and justice the abstract company ought to allow us to take the desired copies. The copies they have were obtained through the courtesy of the county, and it is but right that the company should extend the same courtesy to the county. If the company refuses to allow the copies to be made, then I am in favor of retaliating by preventing its taking further copies of the later records."

"I do not think, "continued Colonel Adair,
"that this would result in any hardship to the abstract company. The people feel that it is a

HARDSHIP TO BE COMPELLED to go to that company and pay a good sized fee for the desired records of property. Even if copies of the records were added to the county's archives so as to make the record books complete, most people would prefer to go to the abstract company; and if that company's charges are reasonable, it will continue to make money."

As Colonel Adair concluded, everybody

make money."

As Colonel Adair concluded, everybody looked at Mr. Collins.

"As I have considerable personal interest in this matter," began that gentleman, "I would prefer not to act upon these resolutions. I will retire while you all consider them."

Chairman Humicutt objected to this say-

Dr. Wilson objected to the second resolution on the ground that it was not right to THREATEN THE COMPANY.

Mr. Adair said that in introducing the resolutions he had no intention of hurting anybody. If the verbiage of the resolutions was distasteful, he would be glad to change them.

THE BACK TAX COLLECTOR.

The commissioners are also after Mr. R. A.
Collins, who is in their employ as special tax

Some time ago an arrangement was made with this gentleman for the collection of cer-tain back taxes upon property which had es-caped taxation. Mr. Collins was to receive caped taxation. Mr. Collins was to receive for his services seventy-five per cent of the gross amount collected. Seventy-five per cent seems a mighty big proportion to go to the collector, and there has been not a little talk about the matter.

This was brought to a head, yesterday, by the following resolution, introduced by Colonel be requested to make an immediate report of the amount he has collected on back taxes by the 18th instant.

Adair: Resolved, That the collector, Mr. R. A. Collins, d to make an im:

Resolved, That the office of back tax collector be abolished, and that the regular tax collector be requested to attend to the work.

Mr. Collins thought that the latter resolution was not feasible, as he considered it impossible for the tax collector to do that work without a great deal of additional assistance.

Mr. Hunnicutt suggested that the second resolution should be withfirawn.

Mr. Kiser seconded the resolutions. Ha

Mr. Kiser seconded the resolutions. He thought it the duty of the tax collector to collect these back taxes, and, while he should attend to this work without any such action of the board, it would be well to pass the resolutions lutions.

"The tax collector," says he, "is willing to do the work if it is placed in his, hands," said Mr. Kiser. "The PRESENT SYSTEM IS A FAILURE in more respects than one. Large property

PRESENT SYSTEM IS A FAILURE
in more respects than one. Large property owners complain that they are greatly annoyed by having this collector after them for back taxes when, as they claim, these have been paid. Colonel Grant told me that a number of persons had complained to him, thinking that he was still a member of this board."

Mr. Collins said that the present necessity for the back-tax collector is the result of negligence in keeping the tax books in the nest for the back-tax collector is the result of negligence in keeping the tax books in the past. He thought that the work was of such a nature that the county tax collector could not attend to it. Frequently property is listed for taxation upon the city books, but not upon the county books. All this must be looked up, as must all that never has been listed at all.

"If the county tax receiver can do the work and will do it," said Dr. Wilson, "I will favor its being placed in his hands. If not, the present system will do."

"But," interrupted Colonel Adair, "seventy-five per cent is too much."

"New Liddy" think we gentlemen and a ty-five per cent is too much."
"Now, I didn't think you gentlemen understood the question," said Mr. Hunnicutt. "As an instance of the work this collector does, I will state that there are 1,700 lots in this county and there are ONLY 1,300 RETURNED for taxation. One of the duties of this collector is to look up the remaining 400 lots and collect the back taxes due the county. To be sure he gets seventy-five per cent of the amount thus collected, but the property is put on the tax duplicates and the county gets the benefit of it in the future."

Colonel Adair thought it the county tax col-benefit of it in the future."

Colonel Adair thought it the county tax collector's duty to do this work. "It certainly argues carelessness on the part of somebody, when we find 400 lots escaping taxatien."

"The whole question resolves itself to two things," said Mr. Kiser. "If the tax collector or receiver doesn't attend to this work we ought to get another. Or if we have to employ somebody for this work, let us pay him a salary. Giving a man 75 per cent

and makes people suspicious."

and makes people suspicious."

Mr. Adair indorsed these statements, saying that some man—Mr. R. A. Collins or somebody else—ought to be employed to assist the tax collector and tax receiver in this work.

The first resolution was adopted unanimously, but the second was defeated by a vote of 2 to 3, Messrs. Adair and Kiser voting in the affirmative and Messrs. Hunnicutt, Collins and Wilson in the negative.

Upon the suggestion of Mr. Hunnrcutt, it was ordered that both the tax collector and tax receiver come before the board at its next meeting and give the members an in sight into the different phases of the tax business.

Two street railway companies seem anxious to secure the right to place their tracks, on the Boulevard.

The Atlanta and Edgewood company presented a petition to the board of commissioners yesterday, asking that the right to lay a track on that thoroughfare from the city limits to the Piedmont park. The company was represented by Mr. Joel Hurt and Judge H. E. W. Palmer. When asked concerning the length of time it would take the company to lay the proposed line, those gentlemen stated that the company had been given by the city a year in which to lay the tracks to the city limits. The members of the board thought it ought to be in position in time to accommodate visitors to the Piedmont fair. It was thought that Mr. Peters also wanted permission to put a line on the Boulevard, and the commissioners felt disposed to give the permission to which ever commany would first nut down a track. A proposition was received from property owners upon the proposed extension of Calhoun street from Ponce de Leon street to Wilson avenue, in which sufficient land to make the street sixty feet wide was tendered. The proposition was accopted and the work was ordered done, provided the deeds to the land in question are first made to the county. Mr. Hurt asked that the chaingang be sent to work on Foster street as soon as possible, as the street ought to be finished in time for the Piedmont fair. The matter was left with the chaingang committee.

Day before yesterday the negro woman left the place for a short time, and when she returned found a back door open. The open door was a surprise to the woman, and while she was trying to solve what appeared to be a mystery to her, she noticed an open window in the second story of the building. Thinking some of the family had possibly returned, the woman entered the house, but instead of finding a pleasant surprise, an unpleasant one awaited her. The doors leading from the hall into several of the rooms were standing open and the rooms were in great disorder. The dressers, wardrobes, closets, etc., had been opened and the contents scattered about promiscuously. The floor was strewn with various articles of wearing apparel, papers, books and toys. A glance showed that a burder in the house during the woman. She feared to make her discovery known, because site had been away from the house, but later in the day imparted the information to some gentlemen living near Major Fitten's. Yesterday morning the matter was reported at police headquarters, and Detective Simpson went out to investigate it. At the residence the detective heard the negro woman's story, which was the same she had told persons living by. It was, in substance, that just as she went into the back door and rushing by her ran rapidly away. She described the man accurately and then the detective began looking around. He soon became satisfied that an entrance was effected by climbing upon the roof of the ell and forcing a window leading into the residence.
